Double Run in Pinochle Amazes Local Player

One of those rarities in pinochle, a double run in a three-handed game, enlivened a friendly table session with the double-deck recently that was being played by Mrs. Al Greiner, her daughter Miss Helen and Mrs. Zalia Comman.

Mrs. Comman is still amazed at her good luck in being dealt a double run, all cards being in the same sequence. She "melded" 1,500 in diamonds for the hand and has been wondering ever since how it happened.

Kiwanians Hold Park Steak-Bake

Eighty-five persons attended the Kiwanis club's "ladies' night" steak-bake at the city park Monday night. The dinner was prepared at the park's largest fireplace and served by Howard Daniels and his cafe staff.

Principal speaker introduced by President Robert Deininger was William Dunlap, charter member of the Westwood Village club and a worker in the Chicago international office. In addition to instrumental and vocal music by three high school students, those participating in the out-door gathering made their own entertainment by being quizzed in a question-and-answer stunt arranged by Michael Straszer.

Pals Again in "Captains Courageous"

Those two child stars, Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney, are reunited in the filmization of Rudyard Kipling's powerful story of the sea, "Captains Courageous," which starts Saturday at the Torrance theatre.

STICKY OILSKINS WORN IN "CAPTAINS COURAGEOUS" BROUGHT ABOUT PROBLEMS

Twenty-seven oilskin jackets and pants, still sticky with fish scum, were transferred from the San Pedro waterfront to Hollywood on an unusual mission for a picture. For a coat and a pair of pants can make an awful lot of difference to a film scene, particularly when they have to be "aged in the wood" first.

When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer started work on its picturization of Kipling's "Captains Courageous," starring Spencer Tracy, Freddie Bartholomew, which starts a four-day run at the Torrance theatre Saturday, the wardrobe man sent to Gloucester for oilskins with which to outfit the cast. Also featured in the production are Mickey Rooney, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas.

Nice and new they came, in sizes from 00, the largest, down to 4, the smallest, corresponding to about a 34 or 36. Beattie proceeded to boil them in linseed oil which is the accepted Gloucester manner of waterproofing them, and giving them a good coating to keep out the elements. You're supposed to dry them in the shade for two days after which they're ready for wear.

There must be something different about the California climate. These oilskins, after boiling, were either so sticky you couldn't pull them apart, or so stiff they wouldn't bend. Meanwhile, the schooner "Spinney" had been sailed from the Massachusetts coast to Los Angeles harbor, awaiting location work, so every pair of oilskins which its crew was wearing was commandeered for the film crew. So additional new oilskins were bought at local marine warehouses and artificially aged.

'Saratoga' Race Track Drama Has Fast Action

A gripping romance, comedy, some of the finest character portrayals in years, and thrills of a thundering racetrack are high-lights in "Saratoga," the picture that brings Jean Harlow and Clark Gable to the Plaza theatre in Hawthorne starting Sunday.

Never was Jean Harlow lovelier. Never has the virile Gable been given a greater opportunity than as the "square" gambler and bookmaker in the new racetrack story. "Saratoga" tells the story of the spoiled daughter of a wealthy horse-maker, and a gambler and bookmaker whom she first hates, fights, then loves. The background of the swift action ranges from penthouses and a London hotel to a Kentucky horse farm, the Saratoga racetrack, and famous races on tracks in various points of the United States. The final racing climax, photographed by special equipment, provides a genuine thrill.

Frank Morgan and Una Merkel are seen together as a comedy team for the first time, and more laughs as well as a song are contributed by Cliff Edwards and his ukulele. Other players are Walter Pidgeon, George Zucco, Jonathan Hale, Hattie McDaniels, Frankie Darro and Henry Stone.

Holt Shows Heroism In Real-Life Drama

A thrilling rescue that was not in the script and which the camera failed to record, occurred during the filming of new comedy-drama "Trouble in Morocco" opening Sunday at the Rex theatre, while on a desert location near Yuma, Arizona.

Jack Holt, starring in real life as he does in the picture, heroically stopped a runaway horse on which the leading lady, Mae Clark, was riding. Ernest B. Schoedsack directed "Trouble in Morocco." C. Henry Gordon, Harold Huber, Victor Varconi, and others are in the cast.

State Picnics

SOUTH DAKOTA . . . The annual mid-summer South Dakota picnic will be held in the south section of Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, next Sunday. All tourists and former residents are urged to attend.

MISSOURI . . . Former residents of the "Show-Me" state will gather Sunday at Bixby Park in Long Beach. Each Missouri county will open headquarters and registers where old-time friends and neighbors may meet and a program will be continuous from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

FOR OLDSTERS . . . The annual picnic reunion for all people from all states and countries who are more than 70 years old will be held Saturday, Sept. 4, in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles. There will be registers, hot coffee and a splendid program of entertainment.

"Strip" Trousers Advocated
SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.)—The strip tease presumably is not necessarily confined to burlesque artists. A member of a local woman's club reported that correct male wear for an afternoon wedding consists of morning coat and "strip" trousers.

HARLOW HEROINE OF "SARATOGA"

Jean Harlow as the heroine of "Saratoga," showing at the Plaza theatre in Hawthorne starting Sunday, plays the spoiled daughter of a famed sportsman. But she learns to take orders from a two-fisted "bookie," Clark Gable.

CAMERA CREW IS CRITICAL

Camermen and technicians can often be difficult to please for sound and photographic value. In this "take" Dick Powell and Doris Weston come through in fine style for a scene in Warner Bros.' newest musical, "The Singing Marine" opening tonight at the Torrance theatre.

HAWTHORNE'S "POW-WOW" OPENS TODAY

With a village of real Redskins to provide the theme of its annual Indian Pow Wow, the city of Hawthorne is preparing to entertain thousands of visitors during the celebration of the event starting today and continuing Friday and Saturday.

Two elaborate parades, one the kiddies' event, today, and the big Pow Wow parade Saturday will be outstanding features of the three-day frolic, while the Japanese Ondo dance to be staged Saturday evening in the center of the city, by hundreds of girls and boys of that race promises to be the most spectacular single attraction of the show.

Chief Strongheart and his contingent of more than a score of aborigines, which will include complete families of braves, squaws and papposes, will be encamped there during all of the Pow Wow, and talented entertainers of the group will be heard and seen on daily programs. A real Indian wedding will be the feature.

20-30 Sport Dance Saturday Night

The Torrance 20-30 club is conducting a vigorous ticket selling drive for its annual sport dance, scheduled for Saturday evening, at the Civic Auditorium. A 11-piece orchestra and several special features are promised to entertain the throng. The club heard L. J. Gilmeister, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting last night. Gilmeister spoke on how the Torrance chamber assisted Harbor district communities in presenting the proposed site for the 1940 Los Angeles Trade exposition. This site adjoins Torrance on the north.

Ford Finance Agency Reflects Prosperity

Vastly improved collections by the Universal Credit Company and an increase in time-payment business of this exclusively Ford finance company, during the first eight months of 1937, indicate a return of prosperity here, according to W. G. R. Mullan, local branch manager. "As business gets better, more and more people buy on time," Mullan said, as he pointed out that Ford time sales in this area have increased from 61.6 percent of all Ford sales on January first to 69.6 percent of all sales at present.
